

1

Anushka Saraf

Nationality:

Indian

Number of years of work experience:

+7 years

Contact:

- LinkedIn: <https://www.linkedin.com/in/anushkasaraf>

I found out about the program through

LinkedIn

My Fellowship role:

Investment Associate Fellow– Blue Oceans Collective

Fellowship organization: LGT Venture Philanthropy - India

Organization's mission: LGT Venture Philanthropy's mission is to improve the quality of life of people facing disadvantages, contribute to healthy ecosystems, and build resilient, inclusive, and prosperous communities by strengthening locally rooted organisations that deliver scalable solutions across health, education, and the environment.

My background:

I have built my career at the intersection of strategy, execution, and social impact. I began in KPMG's Deals Advisory practice, working on growth strategy and market assessments, and later led multi-stakeholder philanthropy initiatives at Dasra across women's economic empowerment, youth leadership, and the circular economy, focusing on program design, governance, monitoring, and partner management.

I joined the LGT Impact Fellowship because

My career has given me broad experience across sectors and stakeholders, and I now want to build deeper expertise within a single ecosystem. The fellowship offers the opportunity to develop investment judgment while learning from impact work across both India and Africa.

In my Fellowship role I will

Support the environment portfolio in launching an oceans collective, including a pilot in Indonesia, by contributing to go-to-market strategy, partner identification, capital structuring, reporting, partner management, and onboarding of new partners.

I am very excited about

I'm looking forward to working closely with partners on the ground, understanding how they operate, and helping build and execute a proof of concept for the oceans collective by strengthening partnerships, refining the value proposition, and supporting fundraising efforts.